Competency Based Training Course

Experiential and Brain-Based Learning Opportunities

Course Description

Learn to utilize the power of modern teaching techniques with this dynamic course designed for Unity educators, trainers, and instructional designers. Grounded in the spirit of Charles and Myrtle Fillmore's vision for practical, metaphysical education, this course honors their legacy by empowering modern-day Unity educators to create transformative learning experiences. Explore the connections between experiential learning, brain-based educational strategies, and Howard Gardner's theory of multiple intelligences to design engaging, personalized, and impactful lessons. Embrace cutting-edge technologies to deliver interactive and accessible content in both in-person and virtual settings, carrying the Fillmores' mission of spiritual growth into today's world.

Key Points

- Designed for educators, trainers, and instructional designers.
- Focuses on experiential learning, brain-based strategies, multiple intelligences, and integrating technology.
- Participants gain hands-on practice developing innovative learning opportunities.

Objective: Equip educators with modern teaching strategies to engage diverse learners and enhance knowledge retention.

Course Outline

- Module 1: Foundations of Experiential Teaching & Brain-Based Learning.
- Module 2: Understanding Multiple Intelligences and Personalized Learning.
- Module 3: Applying Brain-Based and Experiential Learning Strategies.
- Module 4: Utilizing Learning Technology for Engaging Lessons.
- Module 5: Presentation and Peer Review of Student-Designed Lesson Modules.

Learning Objectives

By the end of the Course, learners will be able to:

- Master experiential teaching methods to foster deeper learner engagement.
- Apply principles of brain-based learning to improve knowledge retention and critical thinking.
- Tailor lessons to diverse learning styles by incorporating the theory of multiple intelligences.
- Build and manage courses effectively with online and digital learning tools.
